Month in Cash: Hurry up and wait

March 1, 2014

The nation's sluggish recovery created a waiting game for money markets in February. Mixed economic signals, continued brutal weather and cautious monetary policy kept rates in suspended animation, with all of us waiting for some definitive positive news to move them forward and up.

Jobs remained lackluster, manufacturing slowed and both retail sales and confidence fell in the month. And then there's housing, which was only marginally better earlier in the month but then launched upward at month's end. The report, that new home sales posted a 9.6% rise in January to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 468,000, gave the best number we have seen in five years.

The signs were conflicting in February, but generally leaning toward the slow-down side compared to the fourth quarter of 2013. As we look for sustained good economic reports, we think we need to see March and April data before we can develop a firmer opinion of the economic standpoint in 2014. Will there be a resurgence when the mercury rises, or is growth still going to be lackluster? The verdict is still out and frustration is the only thing thriving.

In an environment like this, no matter what the climate, the Federal Reserve is extremely scrutinized, with analysts, media and investors poring over every report, speech and meeting minutes. Its continuing taper of the amount of bonds it purchases monthly is the most watched activity. It is now down to $65 billion per month, but in the last few days of February new Fed Chair Janet Yellen testified to Congress that the slow economic recovery might cause the Fed to pause its tapering, and two members of the Federal Open Market Committee discussed the possibility of raising short rates sooner rather than later. The last part was music to our ears, but there is still too much noise out there.

We are perhaps more focused on the Fed's daily maneuvers. The Fed recast its overnight reverse repo facility from a test to an exercise, in place at least through Jan. 2015. It raised the overnight rate from 3 basis points to 5 basis points, slowly creeping up to a little bit less abysmal. The Fed continues to establish its role as the market-rate setter. Counterparties and participants were allowed to use the program up to $5 billion a night, an increase of $2 billion.

Definition of Weighted Average Maturity (1) & (2)

*(1) "WAM Days" is the mean average of the periods of time remaining until the securities held in TexPool (a) are scheduled to be repaid, (b) would be repaid upon a demand by TexPool, or (c) are scheduled to have their interest rate readjusted to reflect current market rates. Securities with adjustable rates payable upon demand are treated as maturing on the earlier of the two dates set forth in (b) and (c) if their scheduled maturity is 397 days or less; and the later of the two dates set forth in (b) and (c) if their scheduled maturity is more than 397 days. The mean is weighted based on the percentage of the amortized cost of the portfolio invested in each period.

*(2) "WAM Days" is calculated in the same manner as the described in footnote 1, but is based solely on the periods of time remaining until the securities held in TexPool (a) are scheduled to be repaid or (b) would be repaid upon a demand by TexPool, without reference to when interest rates of securities within TexPool are scheduled to be readjusted.

Definition of Average Monthly Yield (3)

*(3) This current yield for TexPool Prime for each date may reflect a waiver of some portion or all of each of the management fees.

Another positive in terms of supply has been the Treasuries. The Feb. 7 debt-ceiling deadline came and went but Congress then extended the ceiling to 2015. While this kicks the can down the road, it is far enough, and it allowed for debt issuance on the Treasury side that was eligible for money funds (including a huge issuance related to extraordinary measures). If all of this leads you to think you should see substantial change in at least the overnight to 3-month section of the yield curve, think again. There actually has been very little movement. The explanation for this is that rates would have probably been closer to zero had the Fed not been in the marketplace.

The end of January saw a floating-rate Treasury note come to the market for the first time. The Treasury offered $15 billion of 2-year floating rate notes resetting weekly off 90-day bills at a spread of 4.5 basis points. We are eager to watch the market develop from the standpoint of both spread and liquidity.

And we continue to wait.

90-Day Treasury Bill is a short-term debt instrument backed by the national government. These are used to collect immediate cash to meet outstanding obligations.

Any private investor can invest in a Treasury bill. The 90-Day Treasury Bill is a weighted average rate of the weekly auctions of 90-Day Treasury Bills.

Definition of Weighted Average Maturity (1) & (2)

- (1) This weighted average maturity calculation uses the SEC Rule 2a-7 definition for stated maturity for any floating rate instrument held in the portfolio to determine the weighted average maturity for the pool. This Rule specifies that a variable rate instrument to be paid in 397 calendar days or less shall be deemed to have a maturity equal to the period remaining until the next readjustment of the interest rate.
- (2) This weighted average maturity calculation uses the final maturity of any floating rate instruments held in the portfolio to calculate the weighted average maturity for the pool.

* The maximum management fee authorized for the TexSTAR Cash Reserve Fund is 12 basis points. This fee may be waived in full or in part in the discretion of the TexSTAR co-administrators at any time as provided for in the TexSTAR Information Statement.

Economic Commentary

In February, most risk markets that had experienced losses in January climbed their way back to positive territory as large cap equity indices hit new post-recession highs, and most fixed income spread sectors tightened. Yields on U.S. Treasury securities remained within a tight range to end the month relatively unchanged. The yield of the three-month U.S. Treasury bill increased 3 bps during the month and ended at 0.05%. Markets paid little heed to softer U.S. economic data, waiting to see the extent to which the weakening was the result of poor weather conditions. In her initial testimony to both houses of Congress, Federal Reserve Chair Janet Yellen noted her expectation that the economy would continue to strengthen and set a high bar for any change in policy around the tapering of asset purchases. Meanwhile, Europe's economy continued to strengthen. Final GDP figures for the fourth quarter of 2013 showed further improvement for many economies; even Italy finally exited recession. As month-end approached, investors were watchful of escalating tensions in Ukraine, but at that point, market impact remained largely contained within the region.

U.S. economic data released during the month continued to weaken relative to expectations. Some of this weakness can be attributed to the severe weather experienced in much of the country. However, part also appears to be a pause from an above-trend second half of 2013. Despite the weather distorting economic activity, the underlying trend in economic growth remains rather unsatisfactory. U.S. growth is forecasted to remain in a mid-2% range for 2014, well below market consensus, but not weak enough to deter the Fed from winding down its asset purchases this year. Housing activity is unlikely to repeat the strong pace of growth experienced during 2013, as new home construction remains low and investment purchases have fallen as home prices have stabilized, lowering return potential. U.S. government spending at the local level should improve while federal spending is expected to be flat or potentially contracting. The pace of job growth should remain below 200,000 per month and only moderately absorb labor market slack and wage and core service inflation should remain well contained. Cross winds in the global economy, primarily an improving Europe offset by a deleveraging China, should keep export growth modest. The disinflationary pressure from weak global growth and a stronger U.S. dollar is expected to keep core goods prices deflating, allowing overall inflation to rise at only a very modest pace. This will provide the Fed with sufficient cause to keep the fed funds rate low well into 2015. Fiscal policy is likely to be ineffective, as partisanship will prevail in the lead up to the mid-term elections in November though moderate, but marginally better, GDP growth and further tapering from the Fed should lead Treasury yields to grind higher through the course of 2014.

This material is for information purposes only. This information does not represent an offer to buy or sell a security. The above rate information is obtained from sources that are believed to be reliable; however, its accuracy or completeness may be subject to change. The TexSTAR management fee may be waived in full or in part at the discretion of the TexSTAR co-administrators and the TexSTAR rate for the period shown reflects waiver of fees. This table represents historical investment performance/return to the customer, net of fees, and is not an indication of future performance. An investment in the security is not insured or guaranteed by the Federal Deposit Insurance Corporation or any other government agency. Although the issuer seeks to preserve the value of an investment at $1.00 per share, it is possible to lose money by investing in the security. Information about these and other program details are in the fund's Information Statement which should be read carefully before investing. The yield on the 90-Day Treasury Bill ("T-Bill Yield") is shown for comparative purposes only. When comparing the investment returns of the TexSTAR pool to the T-Bill Yield, you should know that the TexSTAR pool consist of allocations of specific diversified securities as detailed in the respective Information Statements. The T-Bill Yield is taken from Bloomberg Finance L.P. and represents the daily closing yield on the then current 90-day T-Bill.
